

Student Right to Know Act

In compliance with federal laws and regulations contained in the Higher Education Act (HEA) of 1965, as amended in 1998, and the Student Right to Know Act (SRTK) of 1990, the following are the UPRM graduation rates for the 2016 cohort.

Since the campus does not collect information on race, only graduation rates by gender are reported. We have chosen not to report transfer-out rates, since the institution's mission does not include providing students with the necessary preparation to enroll in another eligible institution without having completed a program or graduated.

This and other information that may be of interest to our current and prospective students, their parents, and the community in general, can be accessed on the Student Right to Know website.
